Dear parents

I hope you are well.

As we approach the end of a very strange half term, I want to thank you all for your patience and cooperation with this new way of learning. Just like you, we are learning new things every day and having to adapt to the way we approach things and we are genuinely grateful for your support in our joint journey through this unusual time.

We know that for many children that the novelty may be wearing off a bit now and live learning sessions along with seesaw activities at home are becoming less inviting, but it is really important that your children continue to log on each day until we all hear what the next steps to fully reopen school will be. After half term, we will continue with live learning every day (starting on Monday 22nd February) and we would appreciate it if you could ensure the following expectations were in place each and every day thereafter:

- Children should be sat in an area where distractions are limited (where possible)
- Children to be fully clothed.
- Microphones should be on mute until instructed otherwise from the teacher.
- Adults should not appear on camera nor speak to teacher while on the live session.
- Children should show the same behaviour that would be expected in the classroom.
- Children should use the chat functions appropriately

Please enjoy half term as much as you possibly can and we look forward to seeing you soon.

Yours sincerely

Allison Collis
